

Mummert scholarship holders visit Lufthansa

The Best for the Best

The Rochus and Beatrice Mummert Foundation consciously promotes tomorrow's management elite. To ensure that talented students can concentrate fully and absolutely on their studies and gain their degree in quick time, the Mummert Scholarship offers a special financial package that also includes rewards for excellent examination results.

Furthermore, the Mummert Programme encompasses offerings that extend well beyond academia:

- :: A semester of practice-oriented management training, incorporating leadership and skills seminars plus an internship for 4–5 months with a German company.
- :: Personal mentors who ensure that scholarship holders experience more than just academia and find out more about all aspects of living in Germany, including family life.
- :: Members of the Foundation Board make themselves available as mentors for the scholarship holders, exchanging ideas and providing personal coaching.
- :: Personal Tutors advise scholarship holders on individual questions relating to their study planning.
- :: Colloquia held with leading public figures from politics, culture, science and industry.
- :: Regular meetings between Foundation Members and scholarship holders enable the latter to contribute actively to formulating and implementing the Mummert Scholarship Programme.
- :: Group visits to political centres and cultural events round off the programme.

Your Qualification Profile

Are you studying economics, engineering, natural sciences or tourism in your home country?
Are you in the final year of your Bachelor's programme?

Do you come from one of the following countries:

Bulgaria, Croatia, Czech Republic, Estonia, Hungary, Latvia, Lithuania, Montenegro, Poland, Romania, Serbia, Slovakia, or Slovenia?

Do you speak very good German and English? Did you graduate from your studies in good time and with outstanding academic results and achievements? If yes, then you already meet some of the key prerequisites for a Mummert Scholarship. However, the decisive factors are your personality and your willingness to return to your home country after graduating.

The Selection Process

As Executives for Tomorrow, you will also be expected to demonstrate leadership qualities and a high degree of social responsibility. To help us recognise these qualities in you, we organise extensive selection interviews with representatives of the foundation and of the host universities in Germany. The process extends over several days. If you have already successfully completed a pre-selection process in your home country, then your chances of being invited to attend an Assessment Centre in Germany are good.

Are you one of the Executives for Tomorrow?

If you are, we look forward to receiving your application.

www.mummertstiftung.de

For further information on the individual stages of the application process, please go to the Mummert Foundation website at: www.mummertstiftung.de
The annual application period runs from 1 September through to 1 November for studies to commence in the winter semester of the following year.

Please send your applications and inquiries to:
Programme Management
Rochus und Beatrice Mummert-Stiftung
c/o Robert Bosch Stiftung
Heidehofstr. 31
D-70184 Stuttgart
Germany

Tel. +49(0)711/460 84-976
Fax +49(0)711/460 84-10976 mummertstipendium@bosch-stiftung.de

September 2010

Master's Programme and Internship Semester in Germany –
The Career in your Home Country
Mummert Scholarships for the Executives of Tomorrow from Central and South Eastern Europe

- :: Assuming Responsibility
- :: Demonstrating Leadership
- :: Shaping Europe

Executive Board of the Rochus and Beatrice Mummert Foundation

University of Cologne

RWTH Aachen University Foto: Peter Winandy

Germany and its European Neighbours

Excellence for the Future of Europe

It begins with a vision. An economically powerful, politically stable and free Europe, shaped by the well-being and prosperity of all the EU Member States. A community in which the talented are pleased to assume responsibility and share their commitment and foresight to advance the economic and political development of their country.

The Rochus and Beatrice Mummert Foundation is dedicated to promoting these talents. With a precisely defined goal: Together with the Robert Bosch Stiftung, the Mummert Foundation offers scholarships for young and aspiring top executives from Central and South Eastern European countries. These run over several years, covering fields of economics, engineering, natural sciences, and tourism. These awards enable the talents to attend an extensive sponsorship programme in Germany.

The programme includes university studies at Master's level, theoretical and practical management training, plus a very broad range of cultural and support offerings. After completing their postgraduate studies in Germany, the graduates are expected to return and take on positions of responsibility in their home countries. They can then make a sustained contribution to their country's continuing development.

This can be wherever excellently qualified personalities are in demand, be it in corporate management, public administration or university research and teaching. With this approach, the Mummert Foundation aims to contribute to raising the international competitiveness and prosperity of the countries of Central and South Eastern Europe, and thereby to lasting stability in Europe. But it also aims to foster closer contacts and economic relations between Germany and the home countries from which the scholarship holders come.

Master's Studies plus Practical Semester

Mummert Foundation scholarships generally include a two-year Master's programme at the University of Cologne, the RWTH Aachen University or the German Sport University Cologne. Students spend an additional semester in management training and complete internships and other forms of work experience. The host universities are located in major German cities: Cologne, with its Cathedral, and Aachen, the City of Charlemagne. The two cities offer a wealth of tradition and a highly cosmopolitan, open-minded population, making it easy for the students to feel at home.

The University of Cologne, the RWTH Aachen University and the German Sport University Cologne are internationally renowned top-flight German universities. They offer an unparalleled breadth of courses. Teaching and research are represented by outstanding scientists. Hence, it comes as no surprise that study places are very popular and that their graduates are in great demand in industry, management, academia and tourism, both at home and abroad.

The Value of Studying in Germany

Studying in Germany means learning in the heart of Europe. The country's location itself is sure to encourage intensive exchange with the neighbouring countries. Collaborating with universities worldwide and with plenty of opportunities to meet and interact with students from all around the world, it is only natural to establish personal, international networks at an early stage and so gain new and often surprising insights and perspectives. Not least, Germany's universities cultivate the tradition of a 'studium generale' along with interdisciplinary access to a general education. A factor that is becoming increasingly important, especially for future leaders and executives with international aspirations. Successful top-flight executives of the future must, more than ever before, have both an outstanding university training as well as a general education, must incorporate internationality as well as personal initiative and personal responsibility. The Mummert Foundation is convinced that studying at a leading German university contributes valuably to promoting these skills and abilities.

And last, but not least: studying in Germany means acquiring know-how in one of the world's leading export nations and with one of the home country's foremost economic partners.